A Birthday Party

It was Soham's eighth birthday party. All our friends were invited. I had to be at his place at 6 o'clock in the evening. My father dropped me at his place at the scheduled time. When I entered his house, many of our friends were already present while some were yet to come. I handed over the gift to Soham and wished him a 'Happy birthday'. Finally, at 6:30 pm, when everybody came, Soham cut the cake and we sing the birthday song. We had great fun since we had pizzas, cakes and chips as snacks. We also played many games. Then at 8 pm, my father came to pick me up. I said goodbye to Soham and came home with the return gift.
